Remembering Emma Hardinge Britten - researched by Jackie Poole

Emma Hardinge Britten is remembered as a writer, orator, musician and a pioneer of the 'Spiritualist Movement'. She was born Emma Floyd in Bethnal Green London on 2nd May 1823 And passed to spirit on 2nd October 1899. Her father Ebenezer was a school teacher who passed to Spirit when Emma was 11 years old.

In her unfinished autobiography published by her sister Margaret she had written:

"I fancy I was never young joyous or happy like other children, my delight was to steal away alone and seek the solitude of the woods and fields but above all to wander in churchyards, cathedral cloisters and old monastic ruins."

Emma saw visions and had a habit of predicting the futures of people who she met along with information about their deceased relatives of whom she had no prior knowledge. Also, after studying music in Paris, she had a knack of playing songs on the piano which her audience had been thinking about to request. This ability had led her mother to believe that Emma was under evil or satanic forces and she took her back to London fearing for Emma's sanity.

Emma went to America to pursue a stage career but also liked to write - and so she travelled to New York City to attend spiritualists' seances hoping to write about the gullibility of Americans! However, during the seances she began to experience events under the guidance of the medium, Ada Hoyt. The mystical experiences that she encountered during the seances led her into the 'Spiritualist Movement' and she developed trance mediumship. During these times she communicated a message from Spirit in 1871 called, 'Creed of the Spirits' that was edited to, 'The Seven Spiritual Principles' in 1887 that we still aspire to today.

While in America she became involved in campaigns supporting Abraham Lincoln's re-election and became friends with Abraham's wife, Mary Todd Lincoln who was very much into the 'Movement of Spiritualism.'

Emma was invited to continue her political work on a 32- lecture tour and also spoke at Abraham Lincoln's funeral; remarkable because this was at a time when women were denied the vote. Emma would use her voice to promote women's rights and also called for the abolition of slavery.

Although Emma married an ardent Spiritualist, William Britten, from Boston in 1870, she continued to write under the name of Hardinge and published two books, 1870 'Modern American Spiritualism' and '19th-Century Miracles or Spirits' and their work in every country on Earth' 1883.

Prior to this in 1868 at a lecture in Brighton, she was introduced as being well known in America; having 10 or 12 years of promulgation of Spiritualism. She wanted to reach to a wide audience of different classes and was aware that her experiences and knowledge would seem strange and unfamiliar to the mixed audience. This was because the subject of 'Spirit Mediums' would not have been investigated by themselves.

The popular name that was given to the repeated but unexplained during this era was, 'supernaturalism' when there was no scientific explanation. Emma pointed out that in scripture it was constantly noted that apparitions were called, 'the visitation of angels' that always occurred in the presence of certain exceptional persons – apparitions were only seen by those that were called in scripture, prophets and seers. Emma claimed that the modern 'Spirit Medium' was one and the same person with the ancient prophet.

Emma gave many inspirational speeches about spiritualism. She also had a regular Sunday evening event at Polygraphic Hall in the Spiritualist Church in William Street, the Strand London.

In Britain, attempts were made by Emma to bring together the various individuals, spiritualist churches, groups and societies. The concept of the National Federation of spiritualist churches was discussed and written about in 1889 by Emma in the 'Two Worlds Magazine', a publication she had launched in 1887.

Emma arranged a meeting in Manchester of interested spiritualists to discuss the formation of an organisation that could unite Spiritualist Churches throughout the United Kingdom. Emma Hardinge Britten is remembered as a true pioneer and dedicated advocate of spiritualism.

SEVEN PRINCIPLES OF THE SAGB

We believe in an Infinite Intelligence,
Who governs all.

We believe that personal identity and all sentient forms of life survive physical death.

We believe that continuous existence and eternal progress occur for all in the Hereafter.

We believe in communion with spiritual realms.

We believe that all humanity is spiritually linked.

We believe that in the Hereafter, all must account for their actions on earth and will judge themselves accordingly.

We believe that all are responsible for the way they conduct their earthly lives.

OUR PHILOSOPHY AND PURPOSE

The primary purpose of the Association is to offer evidence, through mediumship, of the continuation of the personality after physical death and to relieve suffering through spiritual healing.

The Healing Hymn
Gracious Spirit

Gracious Spirit, of thy goodness
Hear our anxious prayer
Take our loved ones who are suffering
'Neath thy tender care
Loving Father hear us, hear us

Gracious Spirit may thy presence
Shed a Healing Ray
Turning all their nights of darkness
Into glorious day
Loving Father hear us, hear us

Gracious Spirit, should'st thou claim them
Be their Light and Guide
Lead them to the heavenly kingdom
Safely by thy side
Loving father hear us, hear us

Getting to the SAGB

Getting to the SAGB has become a lot easier for those of us north of the river. At present I have to catch the Northern Line, change to the Victoria Line to Victoria Station and then catch a train to Battersea Park Station.

As of the end of September 2021 the Northern Line is running with four trains an hour on week-ends. This will mean, for me at least, that I can travel on the Northern Line from my home to Battersea Park on the same train. Thereafter it will be a short seven minute walk to the SAGB.

Now the extension Has opened there will be an initial peak of six trains per hour, increasing to 12 trains per hour During off-peak times there will be five trains per hour, doubling to 10

Helping to get to the SAGB (after all that is what counts, isn't it) it will help regenerate the Vauxhall, Nine Elms and Battersea areas by supporting new jobs, businesses and homes.
